The Cows

Why cows?

Is it because I feel their souls deeply? Or because I'm doing my thing to save the planet? It's both.

I'm profoundly grateful that God gave us these animals so we can survive. These sentient beings, sacred in many cultures, touch us all.

Cows are beautiful creatures, and I felt each and every one of them while I was trying to capture their souls on canvas. After naming them, they became my children.

I am not the first artist to paint cows; they have been painted through the ages, loved creatures that feed us in so many ways. I am grateful to share them with you.

ARTIST BIOGRAPHY

Regina Foster is inspired by creating paintings in “the pursuit of happiness.” In an energy and light continuum that uplifts the spirit.

Born in South Africa, her mother - an oil painter - gave Regina an early understanding of creative learning. She attended the Johannesburg Art School and today feels a deep gratitude for the amazing artists and teachers who opened her eyes to the wonders of putting paint to canvas.

She lived and worked in Paris, London and New York, travelled through poverty-stricken countries and is passionate about paying it forward. She has incorporated a measure of poverty into her work that is currently being used by The World Bank, the UNDP and in over thirty countries and by Bhutan for its Gross National Happiness index.

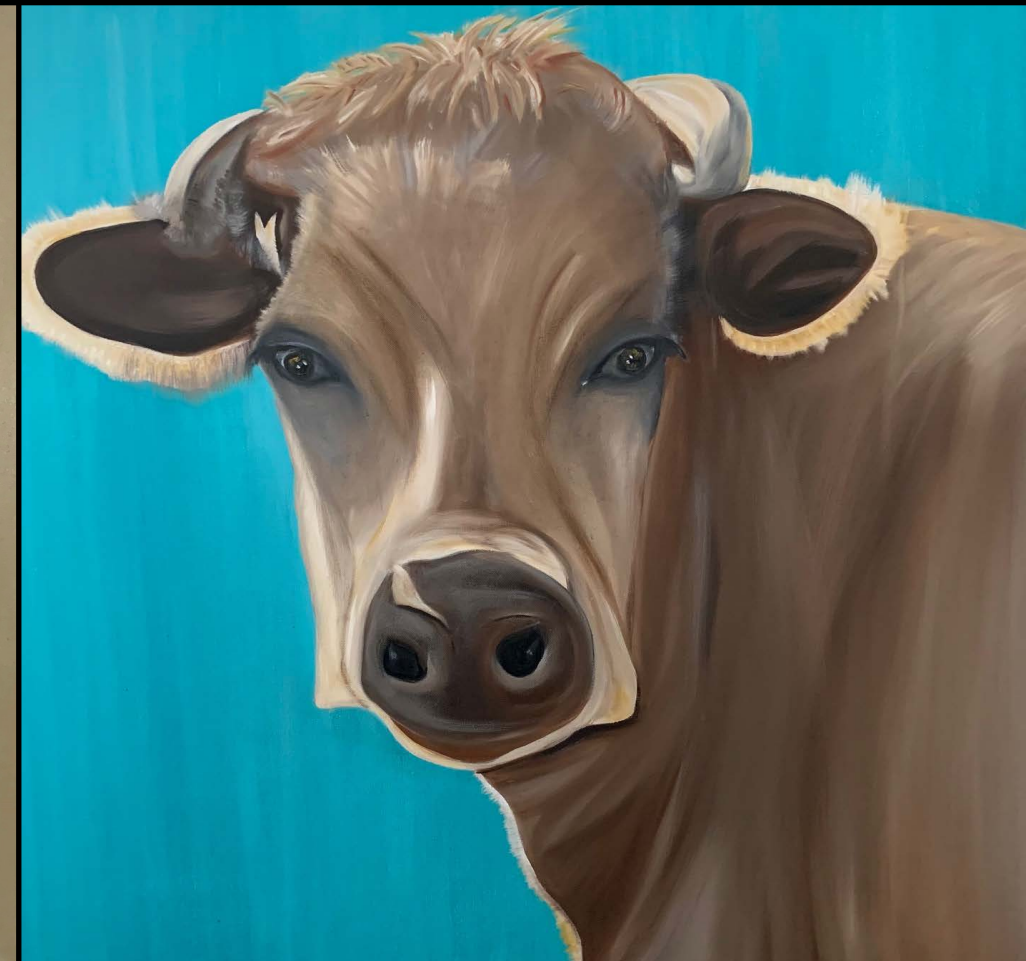

Regina lives and works in Santa Fe, New Mexico with her husband William and her beloved Aussie, Mobi.
